

THE UNIVERSITY OF IOWA
POLICY ON CONSENSUAL RELATIONSHIPS INVOLVING STUDENTS

I. RATIONALE

The integrity of the University's educational mission is promoted by professionalism that derives from mutual trust and respect in faculty-student relationships. Similarly, the University is committed to the principle of protecting the integrity and objectivity of its staff members in the performance of their University duties. It is therefore fundamental to the University's overall mission that the professional responsibilities of its faculty and staff be carried out in an atmosphere that is free of conflicts of interest that compromise these principles. [For further information about conflicts of interest, please refer to the Conflict of Interest policy in the Operations Manual at II.18 and the Conflict of Interest in Employment policy in the Operations Manual at III.8.]

Romantic and/or sexual relationships where one member of the University community has supervisory or other evaluative responsibility for the other create conflicts of interest and perceptions of undue advantage. There are also special risks in any sexual or romantic relationship between individuals in inherently unequal positions of power (such as teacher and student, supervisor and employee). Such relationships may undermine the real or perceived integrity of the supervision and evaluation provided, and the trust inherent particularly in the student-faculty relationship. They may, moreover, be less consensual than the individual whose position confers power believes. The relationship is likely to be perceived in different ways by each of the parties to it, especially in retrospect.

Moreover, such relationships may harm or injure others in the academic or work environment. Relationships in which one party is in a position to review the work or influence the career of the other may provide grounds for complaint when that relationship gives, or creates the appearance of, undue access or advantage to the person involved in the relationship, or when it restricts opportunities or creates a hostile environment for others.

Such relationships also have the potential for other adverse consequences, including the filing of charges of sexual harassment and/or retaliation under the University's Policy on Sexual Harassment if, for example, one party to the relationship wishes to terminate the relationship to the other party's objection. In those circumstances when sexual harassment is alleged as the result of a romantic and/or sexual relationship, the existence of the relationship is not a per se violation of the Policy on Sexual Harassment. However, the apparent consensual nature of the relationship is inherently suspect due to the fundamental asymmetry of power in the relationship and it thus may be difficult to establish consent as a defense to such a charge. Even when both parties consented at the outset to a romantic involvement, this past consent does not remove grounds for or preclude a charge or subsequent finding of sexual harassment based upon subsequent unwelcome conduct.

This policy applies to consensual romantic and/or sexual relationships between individuals of the same sex or of the opposite sex.

II. PROHIBITED RELATIONSHIPS – POLICY STATEMENT

For the foregoing reasons, all romantic and/or sexual relationships between faculty and students in the instructional context are prohibited at the University of Iowa.

No faculty member shall have a romantic and/or sexual relationship, consensual or otherwise, with a student who is enrolled in a course being taught by the faculty member or whose academic work is being supervised, directly or indirectly, by the faculty member.

For definitions of “faculty” and “instructional context,” please refer to §V below.

III. DISCOURAGED RELATIONSHIPS REQUIRING DISCLOSURE AND MANAGEMENT

In light of the potential for apparent and actual conflicts of interest, the following relationships are strongly discouraged at the University of Iowa; where such relationships arise, however, they are required to be disclosed and managed as indicated below:

a. Between faculty and students:

Outside of the instructional context, a faculty member \(including graduate students with teaching responsibilities\) who engages in a romantic or sexual relationship with a student must promptly disclose the existence of the relationship to his or her immediate supervisor if there exists a reasonable possibility that a conflict of interest may arise. When a conflict of interest exists or is likely to arise, such relationships appear to others to be exploitative of or create apparent advantage for the student, and may later develop into conflicts of interest prohibited by §II above in situations that cannot be anticipated fully.

A potential conflict of interest exists when the student is a graduate student in the same department or academic program as the faculty member, or is an undergraduate student and is majoring or minoring in the same department as the faculty member. A conflict of interest also may arise if the student is studying in a department separate from the faculty member. When a potential conflict of interest exists or is reasonably likely to arise, the faculty member must promptly disclose the relationship to his or her supervisor.

Once the relationship is disclosed, the immediate supervisor will evaluate the situation to determine whether an actual conflict of interest exists or is likely to arise and will develop a management plan to address the potential conflict of interest. The faculty member has the professional and ethical responsibility to remove himself or herself from any decisions that may reward or penalize the student involved and otherwise adhere to the management plan.

b. Between staff members and students:

Romantic and/or sexual relationships between staff members and students employed under their supervision are governed by the University of Iowa Policy on Conflict of Interest in Employment (University Operations Manual III.8). It may sometimes be difficult to determine whether the staff-student relationship exists in an employment or in an instructional context. Where such an ambiguity exists, the context will be assumed to be instructional and the relationship subject to the prohibition set forth in §II above.

[Relationships between faculty members, between faculty and staff, or between staff members, where one person supervises the other, are also governed by The University of Iowa Policy on Conflict of Interest in Employment, University Operations Manual III.8.]

IV. EXAMPLES OF PROHIBITED AND DISCOURAGED RELATIONSHIPS BETWEEN FACULTY AND STUDENTS

The following examples are provided for illustrative purposes only. This is not intended to be an exhaustive list of situations in which this Policy applies.

- 1) Student B is in a class taught by Professor A. The Consensual Relationships Policy prohibits a romantic or sexual relationship between these two parties in the instructional context. When the class has concluded and Professor A has submitted the final grades, this policy may continue to prohibit Professor A from engaging in a romantic or sexual relationship with Student B, or may discourage such a relationship, depending upon the academic affiliation of Student B and the likelihood that a conflict of interest may arise.
- 2) Professor A and Student B, a graduate student in Professor A's department, are involved in a romantic relationship. This policy prohibits Professor A from teaching and supervising Student B, and mandates disclosure and management of any potential conflict of interest.
- 3) The partner of Professor A enrolls in an academic program at the University offered by the same college in which Professor A's department is located. If the partner enrolls in the same academic program or department as Professor A, this policy requires Professor A to disclose the relationship and that any potential conflict of interest be managed to ensure that Professor A does not teach or supervise the partner, or involve himself or herself in any decision that may reward or penalize the partner. If the partner's academic program operates independently of Professor A's department, Professor A would not be required to disclose the relationship unless the potential for a conflict of interest might arise.
- 4) Graduate Student C and Graduate Student D are married and enrolled in the same academic program. This policy prohibits D from enrolling in a class taught by C (as instructor, teaching assistant, or grader) and vice-versa. If C (or D) were to complete his or her graduate program and acquire the status of faculty member (such as adjunct professor, visiting professor, or assistant professor) in the same department, this policy would apply as in Example 2. C would be required to disclose the relationship to the DEO and remove himself or herself from any decisions that may reward or penalize Graduate Student D.

V. DEFINITIONS

For the purposes of this policy, the terms set forth below are defined as follows:

- a. Faculty or faculty member means all those who teach at the University, and includes graduate students with teaching responsibilities and other instructional personnel. This term also includes faculty, staff members, and graduate ~~assistants~~ students whose duties include supervision or evaluation of a student's academic work.

- b. Instructional or instructional context means a context that involves academic instruction or evaluation or supervision, direct or indirect, of a student's academic work. These terms also include employment situations where the primary motivation for participation by the employee is instructional. Such situations include, but are not limited to, the employment of medical residents, teaching assistants, and student research assistants.

VI. BRINGING COMPLAINTS

1. Who may bring a complaint

A complaint alleging a violation of this Policy may be brought by any person. "Any person" includes, but is not limited to, any third party who believes that a conflict exists or that he or she may be or may have been disadvantaged by virtue of the existence of a romantic and/or sexual relationship prohibited by this Policy. The process may also be initiated by the Office of the Provost of the University (for relationships involving faculty), by the Office of the Vice President for Finance and University Services (for relationships involving staff), or by the Office of Affirmative Action, or by the designee of any of those offices. Consensual relationships that are terminated by one party to the objection of the other party may also lead to separate claims of sexual harassment which may be brought pursuant to the procedures outlined in the Policy on Sexual Harassment.

2. Where to bring a complaint

Complaints alleging a violation of this Policy are to be brought to and investigated by the Office of Affirmative Action consistent with the requirements and provisions for complaints brought pursuant to the University of Iowa Policy on Sexual Harassment (University Operations Manual II.4) and the procedures applicable to complaints brought under that Policy (University Operations Manual II.5).

3. Process for formal disciplinary action

The Office of Affirmative Action will investigate the complaint, giving both the complainant and respondent an opportunity to be heard. The respondent will have an opportunity to respond to the allegations and evidence provided by the complainant, and to provide a statement of the facts as perceived by the respondent. At the conclusion of the investigation, the Office of Affirmative Action will ~~and make~~ issue a written finding as to whether there is a reasonable basis to believe there has been a violation of this Policy.

(a) In those cases where the respondent is a faculty member, the Office of the Provost will review the finding of the Office of Affirmative Action and will determine whether ~~formal disciplinary action will be pursued~~ there is a reasonable basis to believe that this Policy has been violated, and will proceed as described in Section 4(a) below.

(b) In those cases where the respondent is a staff member whose duties include supervision or evaluation of a student's academic work, the decision to pursue formal disciplinary action, as well as the decision regarding the formal disciplinary action to be pursued, will be made by the Provost in consultation with the vice president responsible for the unit employing the charged staff member.

(c) In those cases where the respondent is a graduate assistant, the decision to pursue formal disciplinary action, as well as the decision regarding the formal disciplinary action to be pursued, will be made by the Dean of the Graduate College or that person's designee.

Potential formal disciplinary actions that may be taken when a person has been found to have violated this Policy ~~is violated~~ include, but are not limited to, the following: mandatory education or training, verbal warning, written warning, suspension, termination, or a combination of the above.

4. Applicable procedures

Any proposed disciplinary actions resulting from violations of this Policy by:

(a) persons holding faculty appointments will be governed by the Faculty Dispute Procedures (University Operations Manual III.29) and the portion of the Procedures dealing with faculty ethics (University Operations Manual III.15).

(b) professional and scientific staff members will be governed by the Policy Establishing Grievance Procedures for Professional and Scientific Personnel (University Operations Manual III.28.4).

(c) staff under union contract will be governed by the relevant contract.

(d) graduate assistants, when dismissal is sought, will be governed by the Graduate Assistant Dismissal Procedure (University Operations Manual III.12.4). When disciplinary action other than dismissal is taken by the Dean of the Graduate College, a graduate assistant may appeal through any existing contractual grievance procedures.

~~(d) staff under union contract will be governed by the relevant contract.~~
